

Table Egon

Exquisite craftsmanship and pure functionality have no need for grand gestures.
Four table legs ideally positioned and joined to a solid wood table top in a way that does the material justice. The special feature of this table is that it can be scaled up to a length of 5 metres. The appearance of the table, or rather the tabletop, does not suffer with growing table spans.
It takes a high degree of craftsmanship to process solid wood for these spans while doing justice to the material. As a customer, all you need to decide is the length of the table, the type of wood and the desired surface. The cabinet maker takes care of all the other decisions – not based on taste, but on what the material and the function require.
Available in elm, oak, maple, beech, and ash.
All Egon tables are manufactured in a special height of 69 cm. The standard table height of 74 cm is available on request.
